NEXT GAME.

Monday 19th-Belfast at South Brewer.

The game on the Congress street grounds today afternoon resulted in the defeat of the team by the Easterns of South Brewer by a score of 11 to 2. It was the second game of the season and broke a long series of losses for the Belfast team. The game was a hard fought one and the Belfast team came down with a vengeance and without mercy, batting him and the box in the third inning. All they needed was a star twirler to gather in the runs and eight singles. Girard then pitched fine ball, being found only once by Browning netted three runs. Then tightened up and there was no scoring. Belfast was weak at the bat and got at McManus except in the 7th when a single by Lord and triple by McManus netted the only runs. Belfast played a splendid game, notwithstanding the hard work of the pitchers. The score:

REGIMENTAL REUNIONS.

TWELFTH MAINE. The 22d annual reunion of the Twelfth Maine Regiment will be held at the Peaks Island house on Wednesday, August 20th. Business meeting and election of officers at 11.30 a. m. Dinner will be served at 12.30.

FOURTH MAINE. The annual reunion of the veterans of the Fourth Maine Regiment, the Second Maine Battery, the Naval Veterans and Berdan's Sharpshooters will be held in Rockland Friday, September 12th. These were all distinctively local organizations, having all been largely recruited in this section, and the Fourth Maine rendezvoused in Rockland and from here took their departure for the field of glory where they acquitted themselves so nobly. Most of the survivors reside within striking distance of Rockland now, and a good attendance is anticipated. Reduced fares will be arranged for the occasion with the railroad and steamboat companies. Samuel Wade is president and John W. Titus secretary of the association. — Rockland Opinion.

ELEVENTH MAINE. The 11th Maine Regimental association will hold its 42d annual reunion in Bangor, Sept. 10-11. The session will be opened Wednesday morning at 10.30 o'clock, the business meeting being held in the banquet room. City hall, for the purpose of reading the reports, appointing committees and reading the roll of honor. At 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon the committees will make their report and letters from the absent members will be read. A big camp fire will be held in the banquet room at 7.30 o'clock in the evening, to which the Ladies of the W. R. C., Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans and its auxiliary, and the Spanish War Veterans are cordially invited.

TWENTY-FIRST MAINE. The annual reunion of the 21st Maine Regimental association will be held, Thursday, Aug.

21st, at Grand Army hall, Damariscotta. Headquarters will be at the Fiske House on the evening before the reunion, and at Grand Army hall, from 9.30 a. m., Thursday, until final adjournment. The order of exercises for the reunion this year is as follows: Called to order; prayer by chaplain; resolutions relating to deceased comrades; reports of officers and committees; election of officers; transaction of new business. The foregoing order will be varied by musical numbers, the reading of letters from absent comrades and divided by a recess of about one hour at 12 o'clock for the annual dinner. The following deaths have been reported to Aug. 1, 1913: Corporal Charles H. Marston, Co. C, at Marshfield, Mass., Jan. 27, 1913; Private James Batchelder, Co. C, at Bath, Me., Nov. 20, 1912; Corporal George E. Rines, Co. E, at Portland, Me., Nov. 27, 1912; Corporal Robert A. Cony, Co. E, at Augusta, Me., March 1, 1913; Privates Fred M. Jewett, Co. F, at Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 12, 1912; Henry W. Payson, Co. G, at Camden, Me., April 22, 1911; Alonzo Chapman, Co. H, at East Boothbay, Me., May 29, 1910; John G. Drake, Co. E, at Windsor, Me., Jan. 3, 1913; Albert C. Heald, Co. K, at National Home, Me., Jan. 7, 1913.

Sail Still Popular.

In spite of the fact that sailing ships are earning from fifty to seventy per cent more than they were two years ago, English owners are continuing to sell to Norwegians and other purchasers. It is also claimed by many that there is still a future for vessels propelled by sail, and that when the present unusual prosperity in shipping wanes, as it is bound to, sailing ships will be in better condition to weather a season of depression than steam. For whereas it might be difficult to obtain a cargo for a medium-size steamer in the long-distance trade, it is thought that sailing ships of from three to four thousand tons can be employed under any conditions in grain and nitrate carrying.

TEMPLE HEIGHTS.

The Spiritual Campmeeting Opens August 15th With an Attractive Program.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

FARMERS ALARMED

Over the Effects of the Democratic Tariff Already Evident.

Maine farmers and manufacturers are gradually grasping the full significance of the Democratic punishment meted out to New England for her many years of steadfast Republicanism and support of the protective tariff principles. As the scope of the free trade bill is better realized more and more of the voters are sending letters to John A. Peters giving him assurance of their support.

Out of a list of 79 commodities raised or manufactured in Maine, the Underwood bill as approved by the Senate Democratic caucus takes all the protection from 26 of them. In two cases 80 per cent of the protection is removed; in two others, 75 per cent; in another, 70 per cent; in 14 others, between 60 and 69 per cent; in 22 others, between 50 and 59 per cent; in five others, between 40 and 49 per cent; in four others, between 30 and 39 per cent, and in the remaining three, between 20 and 29 per cent.

tion afforded by the Payne bill. Slate loses half its protection, furniture more than half, barrels, casks, boxes and shooks lose half; oats 60 per cent and other products of the farm and mill in proportion.

Farmers living along the international border have already begun to feel the effect of the impending change. Farms in the provinces near the line are increasing in value. Farms on the American side are decreasing. As one farmer in Washington county expressed it last week: "When a five dollar sheep is only worth three dollars and a half, it's time I voted the Republican ticket again, and I'm going to." The speaker was one of several in that town who voted for Roosevelt last November, but not with the intention of leaving his party.

AN UP-TO-DATE TOWBOAT.

At noon, Aug. 5th, there was launched from the yard of Cobb, Butler & Co., Rockland, Me., the ocean-going towboat Charles P. Greenough, said to be, with one exception, the finest craft of its type on the Atlantic coast. It is named for one of the directors of the Commonwealth Towboat Company of Boston, for whom it was built, and will cost, ready for sea, about $95,000. It will hail from Boston. Work on the hull was completed last week and the boat towed to Portland, where the machinery is to be installed. The Greenough measures 400 gross tons and has the following dimensions: Length, 144 feet; breadth, 26 1/2 feet; depth, 15 feet, 11 inches. The towboat has an oak frame, is planked with oak and ceiled with yellow pine. The main deckhouse is 83x15 1/2 feet and is surmounted by a pilot house. The forecastle contains four staterooms and 10 berths. The masts are 68 and 70 feet, respectively. The towboat has a modern steam outfit and an electric lighting plant. Motive power will be furnished by a triple expansion engine capable of producing about 14 knots' speed.

Bertha Knowlton and friend Herbert Knowlton have been mother, Florence Wentworth, Sunday. Mrs. Eliza Penney is stopping for a week at her place here. Her two nephews, Fred and Harry Plummer, are with her. Mrs. Taylor has gone back to Albion to see Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Nuttall called at Mr. Busher's Sunday. Clarence Sylvester recently called on friends in town last week.

BRIDLE.
Mrs. E. Ring of Worcester, Mass., who has been visiting here, is now visiting friends in Bangor. Mr. and Mrs. George Jones were at W. M. Vose's a few days last week. Mrs. V. B. Ellis went to East Bangor Aug. 10th to work for Frank Rhodes. Mrs. E. J. Penney, who has been visiting for several weeks with Mrs. M. W. Jones, has gone to her home in South Freeport. Everett B. Choate was at home from Sunday last Saturday and Sunday. Farming about doing hay. The crop generally is much smaller than for several years. Rev. D. Brackett attended the funeral of George Holbrook in Knox last week. There will be a very large crop of apples in this vicinity. The trees are well covered with tent caterpillars and brown tail moth nests.

BOONVILLE CENTER.
In this section are done haying and the light crop. Miss May Traflet of Bangor, Mass., is among the late arrivals. Mr. Augustus Cross of Boston has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Jones, has returned home. Miss Madeleine is visiting Miss Lewis Rhodes in Bangor. Mr. E. F. Whitney of Fergus Falls, Minn., who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, has gone to Rockland to visit. The dance at Ciley's hall on Saturday evening was largely attended and a social gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross from Bangor are the guests of Hon. and Mrs. Jones at the village. Miss Ella Pettit of Bangor, Mass., and her niece, Miss Marie Jones of Framingham, Mass., are guests at the little home for a few weeks.

PROSPECT.
Mrs. App was called to Augusta last week on the illness of his son Fred, who is in the general hospital in that city. Mrs. Eugene Jones of Bangor was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dockham, the past week. The many friends in this vicinity of Mrs. Benson, who is in the hospital at Bangor, were glad to learn that she is gaining very fast from her recent operation. Mrs. Mary MacCaslin of Bucksport was a visitor in town. Mrs. Georgia Sanborn, who recently returned from an extended visit to Colorado, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Killman Wednesday. Miss Alice Jones, who has been employed in Brewer, returned last week. Mrs. Alvah Treat of Bangor Springs spent the day Wednesday with Mrs. Elsie Killman. C. H. Partridge bought Evergreen Farm of Mr. Dorr, who has been living there for the past two years. The Waldo County Veteran Association will hold their next meeting in Python Hall on Thursday, August 14th.

ROSEBUD.
Mrs. Rosamond Woods was the winner of the medal W. C. T. contest held by the Troy chapter at Oakwood Tuesday evening. Mrs. Jones and Linnie Lampher have been visiting several weeks in Castine and Stockholm. Mrs. Banks of Richmond is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Coffin. Mrs. Marion Estes of Palmyra is visiting Miss Rosamond Woods. Mrs. Urial Reynolds, whose arm was recently amputated, is still in the hospital. Mrs. Stevens of Syracuse, N. Y., arrived this week to join his family at M. V. Mitchell's. Bert always brings sunshine. Mrs. Lita Bagley, a trained nurse from New York, is spending several weeks with her brother, O. K. Bagley. Miss Bertha Cornwell of Concord, N. H., is their guest this week. Mrs. and Mrs. T. W. Hawes passed a most enjoyable day at Walden Park Sunday, the guests of Mrs. Danforth, whose cottage has a most delightful location. All are rejoicing over the Sunday night rain, which is still making music while I write. Never was so much needed. The fields and gardens were beginning to look as though a fire had swept over them; water low and unwholesome, and the dust so intense it was no pleasure to walk. Those living near the street have been obliged to keep windows and doors closed. The year 1913 has been an unusual one thus far. We are reminded of the old saying that "13 is an unlucky number."

GROWING FEED
THE PARK & POLLARD GROWING FEED
You never saw chickens really grow so fast and so healthy as on this feed. Sold on the money back plan. Let us send you a trial feed today.

Has anyone a record of 1813? That the farm buildings of J. G. Small, which were destroyed by fire a few weeks ago, were set by an incendiary at present unknown was determined as the result of an investigation, on demand of the town authorities, which was held in Troy town hall. About 100 persons were present, among them being Fire Commissioner Doble of Augusta and Llewellyn Parks, the well known insurance man of Pittsfield. The report of the investigation is to be turned over to the county attorney, who will make a further investigation and bring the matter before the grand jury.

SWANVILLE CENTER.
Roy Ford of Orneville and Wm. Roberts of Monroe were guests Sunday of H. P. White. Mrs. Julia White of Wintport is the guest of Mrs. Briggs for several days. Dr. Adams and family, and Dr. Jennys and family of Belfast and Mrs. Lamson of Jonesport were at Toddy pond Sunday. Martin Robertson has gathered 2,044 brown tail nests in his orchard, some leaves having 5 and 6 nests on them. Mrs. Oscar Dow of Monroe, who has been very sick with muscular rheumatism, is able to be up and dressed. Blueberries are quite plentiful this year. Frederick Paine of Philadelphia caught five fish out of Swan Lake last Saturday. One weighed 5 1/2 pounds. Ruby Gray, Hazel Marr and Leslie Cunningham were week-end visitors at A. K. Gray's, Prospect. Leslie Cunningham of Bangor is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Garrie Cunningham. Ray Robertson returned to Portland Saturday.

WALDO STATION.
Haying is going on rapidly and a large amount of hay has been harvested last week. Spraying and cultivating potatoes come in for a good share of time and with the haying keep men and teams busy. Fields of potatoes and gardens are looking fine. Sidney Johnson, who was quite badly hurt recently while using a sprayer, is much better and is able to work again. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Marden have returned to Massachusetts after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Littlefield. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cummings have had the pleasure of recent visits from their grandchildren, Misses Marian and Irene, daughters of Augustus Cummings of Somerville, Mass.; also Mr. Howard and family of Chichester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Trevis of Greenwood, Mass., who have been visiting for a few weeks at Mr. O. L. Staples, returned to their home last week. W. P. Hussey is at home from Bath for a vacation of a few weeks. Miss Flora Johnson is at home from Lawrence. She has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lillian Moore, who, we regret to learn, is not in the best of health.

Pike of Auburn, Maine, Miss Henrietta Burkill and Charles O'Donnell of Hudson, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burkill at Hill View Farm. H. M. Howard is reported ill.

WINTPORT.
Rev. Dr. R. W. Lockhart of the Congregationalist church, Manchester, N. H., occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church last Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Lockhart are guests of his brother, Rev. Arthur J. Lockhart. Rev. A. J. Torsieff of Orono, Secretary of the Maine Anti Tuberculous League, gave an illustrated lecture in the Methodist church last Thursday evening. Mrs. Henry Eldridge and children have gone to Northport for an outing. There will be services Sunday afternoons at the Congregationalist church through the month of August. Rev. W. B. Ronald of Frankfort will be the pastor. The friends of Mrs. Evelyn Wardwell will be pleased to learn of her improvement in health. Miss Harriet Moody went to Northport Saturday to remain a few days. Mrs. George Crimmin went to Hallowell Friday to spend a week. Mrs. Carrie Chase and daughter, Miss Sophia Chase, have returned from South Portland. Mrs. James Foley and daughter Barbara have gone to New Hampshire to visit relatives. Harold Varney is spending the summer months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Varney. Miss Flora Bowden and Miss Jennie Grindle, both of Sargentville, Me., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Bowden. Mrs. Charles Littlefield of New London, Conn., and two daughters, Misses Estelle and June, have arrived and are occupying their summer residence on Elm street.

LIBERTY.
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Meservy are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Meservy. Miss Ruby Hurd of the Kennebec Journal, Augusta, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation with friends in Belfast, Liberty and Pittsfield. Mrs. B. B. Wentworth is visiting friends in Augusta and Waterville. Clarence Rexford, one of the masters in St. Paul's school for boys in Concord, N. H., who had passed a few weeks at the Pick cottage, has returned to his home in Connecticut. Mr. Kimball, superintendent of the creamery here, spent Sunday at his home in Pittsfield. Ralph I. Morse of Belfast spent Sunday with his parents, Hon. L. C. and Mrs. Morse. Mrs. R. S. Brier of Belfast, Miss Madge and Marie Gay and Master Malcolm Gay of Brookline, New York, visited at C. M. Hurd's last Sunday and Monday. Mrs. Seward Ford of Dixmont is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Hoyt. Ray Neal of Waldo was a Sunday guest in town. Announcements of the marriage of Ralph E. Reynolds of Freedom to Miss Pearl Mabel Oxtow of Montville have been received here. Mr. Reynolds was born and lived in Liberty until a few years ago when he went to Freedom, where he received the appointment of R. F. D. carrier. He is a bright, clean, young man and has a host of friends who wish for him and his bride many years of happiness and prosperity. Mrs. Reynolds is a charming young lady, who has been a success at teaching for nearly three years. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, have been spending a few days in Waldo, the guests of Warden Walter I. Neal. Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Woodcock of Belfast arrived Sunday and went to U-neck-a-Rest cottage for a few weeks' stay. This is their fourth season on the lake. Rev. David L. Wilson and family of Belfast are occupying the Sholes cottage, Beaulieu Park, through the month of August. Hon. L. C. Morse was the guest of A. C. Crockett in Auburn last week.

THORNDIKE.
Mr. Whitlock gave an interesting discourse at the Center church last Sunday forenoon, and all present had the pleasure of listening to a beautiful solo sung by Mrs. L. M. Barstow of Bangor. Mr. Whitlock occupied the pulpit at the Station church in the afternoon. He was the guest Saturday night of J. D. Higgins and Sunday night of Charles E. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Philbrick were guests Aug. 3rd of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Higgins. Mrs. Guy Patterson and baby Glenice are guests this week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ellis, in Brooks. Mrs. Carrie Boulter of Waterville is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Higgins. Mr. and Mrs. George G. Celler passed Saturday night and Sunday in Belfast. Miss Ruth Small, who has employment as stenographer for the Merrill Trust Co. in Bangor, is passing a week here with her father, H. M. Small. She was accompanied here by her friends, Mrs. L. M. Barstow and daughter and sister, Miss Whelden, who will also pass the week at the Small home. Mr. Leroy Fickett lost a valuable heifer last week. She was found dead in the pasture. Mr. Fickett sent the stomach away for analysis. Aug. 2nd seemed a joy day for Miss Helen I. Philbrick. She received 105 hand-some post cards, a blueberry pie, one quart of preserved gooseberries, and other nice things from her numerous friends. A box from her cousin in Bangor was filled with plums, grapefruit, etc. All will cheer her days of convalescence.

SWANVILLE.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vose of Waterville recently visited their uncle, Mr. Frank M. Stevens, and family. Miss Effie Shurey was called home to Enfield Sunday by the illness of her sister-in-law. Mrs. Austin Cole, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. N. Briggs, left Sunday for Bangor, en route for home. Miss Augusta Nickerson visited at Cape Jellison last week. Mr. Samuel Whitten of Portland was a week-end guest at Maple Terrace Farm. Friends of Mr. Albert D. Moody will be pleased to learn that he is resting comfortably after an operation for appendicitis at the Waldo County Hospital, July 30th. Miss Louise Libby returned home to White's Corner Sunday after a week's visit with relatives. Mr. Albert Goldsmith of Waldo visited at H. M. Chase's the past week. Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Paine, who have been spending a few weeks at "Lakeside," have returned to Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Cunningham returned from Bangor Sunday, making the trip by auto in company with Mrs. Strickland and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Cunningham, who returned to Bangor Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Herbert Cunningham returned to East Milton, Mass., Monday. Her daughter, Miss Inez Cunningham of Medford, Mass., arrived July 27th for two weeks' visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Nickerson, and her aunt, Mrs. A. T. Nickerson. Hon. John A. Peters, Republican candidate for Congress, Dr. William L. West and Carlton Dusk, Esq., of Belfast called on Hon. A. E. Nickerson Friday afternoon. August 17th will be observed at the church as Memorial Sunday, with sermon by Rev. A. A. Blair of Belfast, and the graves in Green Lawn cemetery of the departed Sunday school scholars will be decorated. Mr. J. W. Nickerson spent the week-end in Bluehill, the guest of Mr. James Saunders.

WHITE'S CORNER (Wintport).
Herbert Ford of Natick and Alvah Ford and daughters Alva and Olga of Rosindale, Mass., were guests of R. L. Clements and family several days last week. Miss Geneva Perkins of Belfast is visiting for two weeks at the home of her uncle, C. B. Jewett. Miss Louise Libby has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Swanville. Her aunt, Mrs. Luella Nickerson, accompanied her home for a short visit. Mrs. C. E. Bartlett is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Ida Atwood, and sister, Miss Alice, the present week. Mrs. Abner Clement and daughter, Miss Mattie, of Francistown, N. H., have been in town the past week, spending the greater part of the time with Mrs. Clement's sister, Miss Mattie Littlefield. Sunday they called on relatives around White's Corner. Mrs. C. B. Jewett is spending several weeks with friends in Lynn, Mass. Miss Vera Grant of Silver Lake was the guest of the Misses Blaisdell last week. Elsie Whitney and family of Hampden Highlands visited Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Libby, Sunday. Miss Lillian Rand of Kennebunkport, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Clements, returned to her home Tuesday. Miss Glenice Littlefield and Master Edmund Ritchie were the latest victims of the malady that has attacked one or more members of many families in this vicinity. Mrs. Elmeda Bowden of Monroe is caring for G. H. York, who has been seriously ill with the prevailing epidemic, resembling bronchitis. Mrs. R. L. Clements, who suffered a severe attack of the disease, and Mrs. G. H. York, who was confined to her room for five weeks, are now convalescent. Misses Elizabeth and Clara Reed of Fort Fairfield are guests the present week of Mrs. E. N. Bartlett and Mrs. A. R. Wellman. Mrs. Sadie Harriman of Bangor spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Foss. Misses Gertrude and Edna Conant and Amos Conant, with Florence and Flora Twombly of Monroe as guests, were at the Conant cottage at Swan Lake last week. Mrs. E. C. Clements entertained the ladies of the W. C. T. U. last Friday afternoon. There was a good attendance and an interesting meeting was held.

MORRILL.
The Ladies Aid met at Mrs. Emma Woodbury's last Thursday. They report a large gathering of ladies, a grand social time, and a fine treat of homemade candies, ice cream and cake. They met Thursday, August 14th, with Mrs. George Ross. Mrs. Gray and daughter from Arlington, Mass., are having their annual outing at Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wood's. Miss Mildred Wentworth of Appleton is a guest at Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Paul's. Quite a number of comrades and friends from Morrill attended the funeral of Comrade Eli C. Merriam in North Belfast last Sunday afternoon. Comrade Merriam was raised and received his education here. He enlisted in the 8th Regt. Maine Vols. and was transferred to a colored regt. and later commissioned as captain. Mrs. Nellie Morgan has been quite poorly the past week and was unable to keep her appointment at Poor's Mills last Sunday. Last Sunday was a great day to the children of Morrill and surrounding towns, 158

TRAGIC EVENTS.

In which Maine People were Concerned.
The suicide by shooting of John Dudley Sargent at the Robert Ray Hamilton lodge on Jackson Lake, Wyoming, built by Hamilton in 1890 at a cost of half a million, has led to the publication of a very sensational story. Sargent's is said to be the third death which has taken place at this lodge and he had been accused of the death of his friend Hamilton, the original owner, and of being implicated in the death of his first wife, who, like himself was a native of M. chias.

Augustus Hemenway of Boston, a very wealthy man, had extensive lumber interests in Maine and sent his brother, William Hemenway, to Machias to look after them. He married Mrs. Budd, a widow with one son, Nathaniel, and to them was born a daughter, Alice, who married Henry C. Sargent of Machias. John Dudley Sargent is their son. The papers speak of "the old Hemenway mansion;" but while this house when built by Hon. Albert Pillsbury in the late 40's was considered the handsomest residence in eastern Maine it was never called a mansion. It was sold by Mr. Pillsbury after his appointment as consul at Halifax, N. S., by President Pierce and later came into the possession of Mr. Hemenway.

John Dudley Sargent went west when a young man and after some years returned to Machias and married Adelaide, daughter of Leander Crane of that town. He took his bride to the lodge in the wilderness, which he occupied with his friend Hamilton, a New Yorker and a great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton. Here they lived for several years. One day the body of Hamilton was found floating in the lake, its condition indicating that it had been in the water at least a week. Sargent had made no report that his friend was missing, and no explanation was ever given as to how he met his death. Sargent and his wife continued to live at the Lodge after the death of his friend, there being no one legally authorized to dispute his right to remain there. Later Mrs. Sargent "starved, abused and dying," took refuge with a neighbor, and died without telling the story of what had occurred to her. The scandal caused by her death led Sargent to leave the place. He returned two years ago with a woman to whom he had been married during his absence and was tried for his first wife's death, but escaped on the ground of insanity. Some time ago his wife went to California and Sargent had since lived alone. He had been dead six or seven days when his body was found. On a table beside him were two letters, one addressed to his second wife in California, the other to a daughter in New York city. It is said that on a trip to New York in 1901 Sargent left with a lawyer a sealed package, with instructions that it should not be opened without his permission. This package will be turned over to the administrator of Sargent's estate and may solve some of the mysteries which have attended his life.

The lodge, the scene of these tragedies, was christened Marymere after Sargent's first child, Mary, now married and living in the west. Three other children were born. Hemenway, identified with the U. S. N. and at present living in New York; Catherine, who is also in New York and was Sargent's favorite child; and Adelaide, who lives with her grandfather, Henry C. Sargent, in Machias. The children have entered upon or give promise of successful careers and possess the brilliant and worthy characteristics which both parental families notably represent.

ONLY A MASK.
Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat or sleep well. What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects the system, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing and restful. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine, which, as we know, "builds up the whole system."

Two Princes, Attracted By Charm, Decide To Visit United States

TWO European princes, attracted by the charm of America, decided to pay this country a visit this year. They are Prince Albert of Monaco, who makes the trip in his yacht, the Hirondelle, and who planned to stop at New York, Newport and other Atlantic ports. Prince Henry of Prussia, who has already been an American visitor, plans a return trip this year in order to witness the yacht races between German and American boats at Marblehead, Mass., for the President Wilson and Governor Foss trophies. He is an enthusiastic lover of yachting, and this is not the first time he has made a long journey to see a race that gave promise of being thrilling.

Prince Albert rules over Monaco and Monte Carlo and is one of the richest men in the world. Few Americans know anything of Monte Carlo beyond the fact that it is famed the world over for its palatial gaming saloons, its climate and its magnificent situation on a rock beneath the towering Tete du Chien, which looks far out over the Mediterranean. Monaco is a tiny principality, a place of languid cosmopolitan luxury, with a sovereign ruler drawing $300,000 a year from the gambling tables, and yet in wonderful contrast to all this is the ruler's own personality. Prince Albert of Monaco is a scientist, a biologist, a profound thinker, at home, not on his frivolous rock, but out in lonely seas, dredging up from almost unthinkable depths strange marine life, over which he is forever poring with the microscope.

The Princess of Monaco has everything that heart can wish, yet she is one of the most unhappy of women. Hers is a loveless marriage. She was a woman of adventurous sentiments and went to Monte Carlo to gain a rich husband among the men of money who are lured to the gaming tables, and her ambitions were more than realized when she married the prince himself. The palace of Monaco is a superb place filled with all that is rare and beautiful in art and surrounded by wonderful gardens. And we are to have a visit from the royal house of Hohenzollern also. It would be hard to imagine any one person to whom it could be more agreeable for us as Americans to entertain than Prince Henry of Prussia. It has a happy inspiration, this visit of absolute monarchy to a stronghold of popular government. It is not strange that the United States is a world power that can no longer close itself from old world interests, but which must, on the contrary, keep in touch with all its neighbors. And today a nation's neighbors are not only the people who dwell on its frontier, but in the ports 10,000 miles away. Prince Henry is coming to America to witness yacht races, but it is a mistake to suppose that Henry is a sailor and nothing more. He has knowledge of books, politics, art and of men. His humor is perhaps his best known characteristic. Many strange stories are told about his witty replies to both subjects and superiors.

PARISIAN SAGE FOR THE HAIR

If your hair is too dry—brittle—colorless—thin—stringy—or falling out—use Parisian Sage—now—at once. It stops itching scalp, cleanses the hair of dust and excessive oils, removes dandruff with one application, and makes the hair doubly beautiful—soft—fluffy—abundant. Try a 50c. bottle to-day. It will not only save your hair and make it grow, but give it the beauty you desire.

BY AN OLD SETTLER
(Hon. Wm. G. Crosby.)

CHAPTER XXVII. (1832.)

The Waldo Bank, the first one established here, was chartered February 11th, this year, with a capital of fifty thousand dollars. Of the eighteen corporations named in the charter, three only are now living: Hon. Ralph C. Johnson, Hon. Hugh J. Anderson, and Hiram O. Alden, Esq. The meeting of the stockholders for organization was held on the 24th of March. Ralph C. Johnson, Joseph Williamson, Rufus B. Allyn, Thomas Marshall and Hugh J. Anderson were chosen directors; Mr. Johnson was elected President and Mr. Alden, Cashier. The banking-room was in Williamson's Fire-proof block in the easterly half of the store now occupied by George R. Sleeper. Early in the next year Mr. Alden resigned the office of Cashier; James White, Esq., was appointed to succeed him and the office was removed to Number 6 Phoenix Row, at which place it was kept. Mr. White continuing to be Cashier, until March 20th, 1838, when the charter was surrendered and the Bank ceased to exist, save for the purpose of closing its affairs. The investment did not prove a profitable one for the stockholders; not, however, by reason of any lack of fidelity or integrity on the part of the directors. The Bank was on the high tide of prosperity when the wildland-speculation fever attacked the community. Money was flowing freely; almost every other man whose notes were in the market held a bond or a deed of one or more townships of wild land, and was regarded as not only solvent, but rich; his paper of the deepest rose-colored tint. When the fever subsided, and the bubble burst, the Waldo Bank, like a great many other banks and individuals, found that there was a much larger quantity of suds than soap in its safe.

At the annual spring meeting held on the 8th of April, Nathaniel M. Lowry, Henry Goddard and James Gammons were elected Selectmen, James W. Webster, Clerk, Frye Hall, Treasurer, and Arvida Hayford, Jr. Collector of Taxes. For the first time Road Commissioners were elected in lieu of Highway Surveyors; the Commissioners elected were William Salmon, Hugh Ross, Nicholas Jeffers, Nanum Hunt, and Joshua Adams. Several young men, very old ones now, who during the last year had been caught in the trap matrimonial, were elected hog-reeves. One of them distinguished himself during his official term by arresting a swine of portentous magnitude one evening and finding himself with a litter of pigs on his hands before reaching the town-pound.

The monies raised at this meeting were as follows: for support of schools $1200; of paupers, $500; incidental expenses, $500; ringing the bell, $50; payment of debts, $500; repairs of highways, $300; in labor and materials for same purpose $5,000. At the same meeting a vote was passed authorizing the town treasurer to purchase a sufficient number of Greenleaf's Map of Maine to furnish one to each school-district in the town.

On Sunday the 20th day of May the Rev. Ferris Fitch pastor of the North Church, preached his farewell discourse to his parishioners, the connection existing between them having been dissolved on the 15th.

This year had its freshest as well as the year proceeding; it occurred in the month of May. The streams in this place and in vicinity rose very suddenly and a large number of bridges, mills dams were swept away. Among them, in this town, the bridge across little River near the grist-mill then known as Eastman's, the bridge with stone abutments on the main road at the Head of the Tide, together, with a sawmill and several dams on the same river, and in Seabrook three bridges on the northerly route to Augusta, and the bridge near Hazeltine's mills on the southerly route. The mail from the west due here on the 20th did not arrive until the 23d, and then on horseback. The rain storm was a very severe one, lasting eight days. The fall of rain through the summer of this year was unusually large.

The Fourth of July was observed in the due form and with public services at the Unitarian Meeting-house. The declaration of Independence was read by Rev. Alfred Johnson and an oration delivered by Solymann Heath, Esq.

There was no snow on the ground on the 16th of June, but that did not prevent a gentleman then residing here from taking a sleigh-ride driving his "gray mare Kate," from Rowe's corner, where Hayford Block now stands, to Brown's corner in Northport and back again, on a wagon of one hundred and fifty dollars that he could not perform the feat in one hour; he won the event by doing it in fifty minutes. The event is doubtless remembered by some still living as "Tom Pickard's sleigh ride."

On the evening of August 6th and 7th a concert was given at the Court House by Miss C. J. Clark, a minute specimen of female humanity, twenty-nine years old, three feet and three inches tall and "well-proportioned;" at least, so the village newspapers said. She hailed from Virginia; probably came from some distance from there; but her singing was, to say the least, of a very respectable order.

A democratic Convention was held at the Court-house on the 18th of August at which Joseph Williamson, Esq. of this place and Ebenezer Knowlton, Esq. of Montville were nominated for County Senators, Frye Hall of this place for County Treasurer, and Ephraim Fletcher, Esq. of Lincolnville for Presidential Elector, General Thomas Sawyer, Jr. of Brooks, was Chairman of the Convention, and Albert Bingham, Esq. of Unity and Henry W. Cunningham, Esq. of Swanville were the Secretaries. The nominations were made, of course, "with great unanimity;" but what a terrible rattling of political dry-bones there would be should a majority of the delegates present at that Convention meet in a democratic convention held in these days! There was an anti-Masonic Convention held here on the same day.

On the first day of September the copper-fastened schooner Comet, 128 tons burthen, was launched. She was a famous packet in her day and for many years plied between this port and Boston under command of Captain James Young. She was in existence and still running a few years ago. Captain James Young resided on the east side of the river. He was a faithful, worthy, honest man. He died at Calcutta Oct. 23, 1858, aged 58. At the time of his death he was master of the ship Lady Blessington.

At the annual fall meeting, held Sept. 10th, the whole number of votes thrown on the gubernatorial ticket was 450; of this number 261 were for Smith, Jackson candidate, 148 for Goodenow, Jackson candidate, 42 for Carlton, Anti-masonic candidate. Messrs. Williamson and Knowlton, nominated at the Democratic Convention, were elected Senators, and James W. Webster, Representative to the Legislature. Frye Hall was elected County Treasurer. At the Presidential Election, November 8th, the vote was for Jackson 311, Clay 182, Wirt (anti-masonic) 22.

On the 11th of September the announcement was made to the public that the new East bridge, the present one, was passable for travellers; a few carriages had passed it in the month preceding.

The 18th of the same month was a pleasant June-like day, and Muster day! The most conspicuous objects were a few men on horse-back, bedizened with gold and silver lace and feathers, and a large number of men on foot who looked as if they wished the d—l had the men on horseback. There was the usual amount of drinking, swearing, rows and dances; a beautiful page in the history of morality, it was not thought to be at time, for the perusal of the then rising generation.

The Waldo County Agricultural Society held its annual Cattle-show and Exhibition on the 24th of October. The exhibition of manufactured articles, vegetables &c. was in the town hall; the cattle-show was in the rear of it. The largest premium awarded was ten dollars; the smallest fifty cents. An address was delivered at the Unitarian Meeting-house by Hon. Alfred Johnson, Jr. The number attending the Show was unusually large, and the animal and vegetable productions exhibited were in every particular very creditable to the farming community.

There was quite an excitement and no little alarm here during the summer occasioned by the appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in some of our large cities and the apprehension that it might visit this section of the country. There was a general "house-cleaning" of streets, gutters, cellars and cess-pools under the supervision of the Board of Health. Quarantine regulations were established under which all vessels arriving from any port where the disease was supposed to exist were prohibited from coming to the wharves, or anchoring within six hundred yards of low water mark; vessels having on board emigrants from any European port were subjected to a quarantine of thirty days before landing their passengers. A vessel commanded by Capt. Josiah Simpson, Jr. arriving from New York about the 17th of July was put in quarantine for twenty-hours. It is believed that she was the first vessel ever quarantined at this port. Various articles recommended by physicians as a preventive or remedy, such as laudanum, camphor, chloride of lime &c. rose suddenly in their market value. The pestilence prevailed to some considerable extent in New York, there were a very few cases in Boston, of questionable character, but none in this place or vicinity.

The Lyceum still kept up, but the public mind was so engrossed with the pending Presidential canvass that it lingered rather than lived. Few lectures were given; the exercises before it were principally of the nature of discussions; the literary powers of the village were belittled.

Among the buildings erected this year were the brick stores on Main street now occupied by F. A. Follett and Robert F. Clark. The first occupant of the one first named was James B. Norris, who after leaving this place resided in Augusta where he was for several years a deputy sheriff. From there he went to Boston where he held an office for several years in the Custom House and died not many years ago. The first occupant of the other store was Charles F. Angier, who died in this place April 12, 1859, aged forty-nine; he was a brother of Mr. Oakes Angier.

The following is a list of the vessels built and registered or enrolled here during the year; schooners Scioto, 140 tons, Two Sons, 65 tons, Nantucket, 125 tons, Commerce, 136 tons, Wm. and Harris, 65 tons, Comet, 128 tons, Alhambra, 126 tons, Margaret, 125 tons, Capital, 124 tons.

Among the business changes of this year were the following. The firm of John Haraden and Son, composed of the late John Haraden and his son Daniel was formed and commenced business in a wooden building which stood at the intersection of Main and Church street, on the site of the Savings Bank. It was removed in 1850, when the brick building now standing there was erected, and is now the dwelling of Mr. E. C. Hilton on Church street nearly opposite the Court House; the firm was dissolved the same year. Mr. Haraden, Senior, died March 15, 1867 in his eighty-eighth year. F. N. Holway, who had previously been in trade in Montville with Samuel Atkins, Esq., under the style of F. N. Holway and Co., came here in October and commenced trade in the northerly half of the NeSmith store on the site now occupied by J. C. Thompson. After leaving this place he went into trade in Syracuse, N. Y., where it is supposed he is still living. Liberty B. and John E. Wetherbee, brothers and natives of Brookfield, Mass., commenced business here, under the style of L. B. and J. E. Wetherbee in the store then No. 17 Main street, now occupied by Woods, Matthews and Baker, in the month of December. When the copartnership terminated John E. left and was for some years resident in Cleveland, Ohio, where he died about 1847. The senior partner, Mr. L. B. Wetherbee, remained here in trade until his decease in October 1860 aged sixty-three. He was a quiet, unobtrusive, worthy member of society. The firm of Jackson (Samuel, Jr.) and Quimby (William) which was formed in November 1830 was dissolved in April. During that time they occupied a wooden building erected in 1830 by James and Samuel B. Miller which stood on the site of the easterly portion of the Custom House. At the time of the erection of the Custom House it was occupied by the late Samuel S. Hersey; it was removed to a site on Church street about where the store now occupied by Pote and Quimby stands. Soon after the great fire of 1865 it was again removed to the corner of Main and Washington streets and now constitutes a portion of the building occupied by F. M. Lancaster. After the dissolution of the firm Mr. Quimby continued to occupy it until 1838. Mr. Jackson died at Portsmouth, N. H., October 9, 1838 aged thirty-eight.

The number of deaths in the town this year was forty-seven.

THE CHAPMAN PICNIC.

Last week we published an interesting report, from the pen of one of the guests, of the gathering of members of the Maine Music festival choruses at the summer home of Prof. Chapman in Bethel, where they were most delightfully entertained. From a report in the Bethel News we quote as follows:

Lunch finished, Prof. Chapman rose to greet the members and he was never more enthusiastically received. Then came Mrs. Chapman, the dynamo of the Maine Festival, who told them in her own charming way how glad she was to have them with her and read this bit of verse which she had composed for the occasion:

"They say 23 allways means skidoo
But this is not skidoo for any of you.
It's skidoo to trouble and worry and care,
It's hurrah for the picnic in Bethel's pure air,
It's welcome to the pure lands, to mountain and stream,
It's three cheers for the Festival of which we now dream."

May the memory of Bethel this day on our
Be always a pleasure and may nothing of harm
Come to my dear one, who is with us today.
May blessings and pleasure attend us today.
And when you return to your own home tonight
Breathe a prayer for your former conductor alright.
And with voice and heart, as you've oft done before
Inspire and help him for the work now in store.

May this seventeenth Festival be the greatest of all;
May we all meet to sing in this glorious Fall.
So add to us for the present, not good-bye, we say,
And thank you for coming to greet us today."

Mrs. Chapman then read the following letter from Mrs. Schumann-Heink, beloved of all Festival members, received but a few days ago:
My dear good friend:
I just received your letter and I assure you, not alone to sing with you, but to sing for my beloved dear Maine people will be the day of my life.

I never forget our mutual work for years and years and this lovely, wonderful audience.
I can hardly wait the time to come and to sing give my best, inspired by you, my dear friend, and in my devotion for the dear people.

My program will be, as by your wish—1st,
"Adagio Trio" from "Rise and Fall"; 2nd,
(a) "The Lord is Mindful," from "St. Paul"; Mendelssohn Bartholdy; (b) "The Erkling," Berlioz; (c) Bolero—Arditi.
I have all my orchestration and as encores
"Brindisi" from "Lucetta" and some other nice things.

My love to your angel wife and a kiss for you too, oh, oh!
As ever your faithful friend

DIFFER IN THEIR DRINKS.

Somehow or other the Wilson Administration just cannot agree on the subject of drink. Further disruption came to light last week with the discovery that William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, is a butt-milk fan. William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, insists on grape juice. President Wilson, on the other hand, thinks nothing will do but orange juice. But Mr. McAdoo casts these two beverages aside with scorn. Twice every day Mr. McAdoo's doortender serves a glass of fresh buttermilk in the Secretary's private office. This is one of the doortender's chief duties, and he is punctual, arriving promptly at 11 o'clock and 4.30.

MRS. SARAH NICHOLS CLARKE.

(Special to The Republican Journal.)

WEST WINTERPORT. When Sarah Nichols, wife of Augustus M. Clarke of this place, passed over into the other sphere of action on the seventh of last month a life of more than usual interest was completed.

Mrs. Clarke, besides being a woman of fine personality, unflinching in her duties to her home and family, was unquestionably one of the greatest curio collectors in the State of Maine. Practically all of her leisure hours were devoted to the study of natural history in all of its varied forms, and the flora, fauna and geological structure of every clime were as familiar to her as were those of the region in which she resided.

Besides the spacious cabinets filled with ancient articles, she had obtained, largely through the gifts of multitudinous friends and relatives—many of whom were sea captains or tourists—specimens of the animal, vegetable and mineral kingdoms of almost every place of interest to the traveler or inhabitant by man. She had a good collection of stuffed birds, Indian relics, works of art, historical articles and curiosities of every description, which many American college laboratories and museums can not equal or surpass.

Mrs. Clarke was frequently visited by people from far and near who were desirous of seeing her unique collection, which she was always graciously willing to exhibit, not without a bit of just pride; moreover up to the last conscious hour of her seventy-seven years her memory of the history of these articles and specimens was marvelous in the highest degree. No name, common or proper, no matter how foreign, ever escaped her wonderful memory, and the student could get more practical insight of the history and geography of the globe in a couple of hours under her tuition and guidance than most people receive in an ordinary lifetime.

Among the various collections is one entirely of souvenir pitchers, over one hundred and fifty in number, no two alike and of almost every foreign and domestic ware.

Mrs. Sarah Nichols Clarke passed to the higher life on July 7, 1913. She was the daughter of the late Thomas and Judith (Jones) Nichols of Brooksville, Me., and one of a family of six; William, Thomas, Charles, Jane, Abbie, and the subject of the above sketch. She was born Nov. 27, 1836, in the little town of Brooksville, where she spent the most of her girlhood days.

She married Augustus M. Clarke of Winterport, a prominent and well-to-do farmer, and five children blessed their union; two daughters, Laura and Mary Abbie, who died in childhood, and three sons, Bradford of Hampden, Fred D. of Winterport and Edward A. of Levant, all of whom, together with one brother, Charles Nichols of Brooksville, and the aged husband, survive her.

Mrs. Clarke was a woman of sterling worth, a devoted wife and mother, a loyal friend and an obliging neighbor. She was passionately fond of flowers and profusions of them were cultivated for her at all seasons. Few women of her years leave as large a circle of acquaintances, and the large gathering of people who came to pay their last respects to her earthly image, also the masses of beautiful and costly flowers, bore testimony to the love and respect with which she was held.—ADA DYER CURTIS.

A NEW WAY TO CAN FRUIT.

Following is a little article entitled "A New Way to Can Fruit," taken from the August Woman's Home Companion.

Within the past year I have become greatly interested in the practical bulletins sent out by the Department of Agriculture. The one which has been of most value in discovering to me a new way of performing an age-old duty is Farmers' Bulletin No. 203, on "Canned Fruit, Preserves, and Jellies," by Miss Maria Parloa. It tells how to can fruit by cooking it in the oven.

"This method has in its favor the following points: (1) It is quick and easy; (2) the fruit remains whole, and is exceptionally beautiful in form and color; (3) the goodness remains in the fruit, and the syrup is not too rich.

"The jars are sterilized by boiling them for fifteen minutes. Into them while still hot, the clean fruit is packed, and over the fruit a boiling syrup is poured.

"For a given and actual amount of cleaned fruit allow half as much sugar, and the same amount of water as sugar, to make the syrup. For instance, if when your strawberries are hulled and picked over you have twelve full quarts of fruit, by measure, then make a syrup of six quarts of sugar and six quarts of water. The water may be poured on the sugar either hot or cold, and it should be stirred until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Boil for about fifteen minutes. It is a safe rule to be sure to make plenty of syrup of these proportions; for if any is left, it may be sealed up and used with the next batch of fruit, or it may be boiled down and eaten with pancakes. The syrup may be made on the day before the canning and be reheated while the jars are sterilizing.

"I purchased at a hardware store for thirty-five cents a piece of asbestos cloth so that it exactly fits the oven floor of my range. This I slip in just before I begin to fill my jars. When the jars are filled with the fruit, and syrup has been poured in up to the neck of the jar, I set them into the oven, which is fairly hot, not covered and not touching each other. The oven is then closed, and they are left in for ten minutes, or until the fruit is soft. The jars are then removed, and, if not full, filled to the brim with boiling syrup and sealed in the usual way."

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms?

Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt his mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail, 25c.

EASTERN STAR REUNION.

Three hundred members of the Order of Eastern Star attended the annual reunion of the Knox County Eastern Star Field Day Association in Penobscot View Grange Hall, Glen Cove, August 6th. The grand matron, Mrs. Mary B. Price of Richmond, and the grand patron, Josiah F. Cobb of Portland, were unable to attend, as they had planned, but sent letters. The oldest member present, and one of the most active, was Mrs. Eliza Freeman of Rockland. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Ethel Harrington, South Thomaston, president; Miss Martha Bartlett, Rockland, Mrs. Ann Rankin, Camden, Mrs. Ina Wooster, Rockport, Mrs. Gertrude Studley, Thomaston, Miss Tina McCallum, Warren, Mrs. Annie Thompson, St. George, Mrs. Edna Lermond, Union, Mrs. Hannah Staples, Washington, Mrs. Alice Lane, Vinalhaven, Mrs. Emily Pierce, South Thomaston, vice presidents; Mrs. Agnes Bartlett, South Thomaston, secretary; Mrs. Heaster Chase, Rockland, treasurer. A musical program was given by Mrs. John Matthews, Camden; Mrs. Cora Gardner, Rockland; Miss Mary Atkins, Thomaston and Mrs. Scott Kittredge, Rockland.

A CATHOLIC CELEBRATION.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 6. Exercises were held, today, commemorating the landing at Fernald's Point, in May, 300 years ago, of three Jesuit Fathers, a Jesuit lay brother and a score of laymen from France, who formed the first and only Catholic church at that time in all the North American continent, except, perhaps, Florida, Mexico and California, and maintained it until the following September, when they were killed or taken prisoners by the English from Virginia. The services included the dedication of a handsome stone church of "The Most Holy Redeemer." The leading dignitaries of the Catholic church were present.

THE CRY OF THE DREAMER.

I am tired of planning and toiling
In the crowded haunts of men;
Heart-weary of building and spoliing,
And spoiling and building again,
And I long for the dear old river
Where I dreamed my life away;
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a toiler dies in a day.
I can find no pride, but pity,
For the burdens the rich endure;
There is nothing sweet in the city
But the patient lives of the poor.
Oh, the little hands are skillful,
And the child mind choked with weeds!
A daughter's heart grows with will,
And the father's heart that bleeds.
No, not from the street's rude bustle,
From the trophies of mud and stage
I would fly to the woods' low rustic,
And the meadow's kindly page.
Let me dream, as of old, by the river,
And be loved for the dream I always;
For the dreamer lives forever,
And the toiler dies in a day.
—John Boyle O'Reilly.

WOMAN TOOK FRIEND'S ADVICE

And Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Windom, Kansas.—"I had a displacement which caused bladder trouble and I was so miserable I didn't know what to do. I suffered from bearing down pains, my eyes hurt me, I was nervous, dizzy and irregular and had female weakness. I spent money on doctors but got worse all the time. "A friend told me about the Pinkham remedies and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured. I cannot praise your remedies enough for I know I never would have been well if I had not taken it."—MISS MARY A. HOGNER, Route No. 2, Box 41, Windom, Kansas.

Consider Well This Advice.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Time Salts Didn't Have to be "Handled with Gloves."

(From the New York Times.)

One of the serious difficulties for shipowners who intend to trade through the Panama canal from New York to the West Indies, and to the far East and Australia, will be to get qualified officers to man their vessels. At the present time the big Pacific mail lines, the San Francisco to Japan and China lines, and the Chinese crews with American officers, are being compelled to change, as the firemen and men available at San Francisco are unable to man the ships.

THE GRANITE INDUSTRY IN THE THIRD DISTRICT.

(Portland Evening Express.)

Dry reports of Congressional action sometimes uncover facts of startling human interest to groups of people. For instance, the Washington report of yesterday dealing with the long drawn out contest over the enactment of a tariff law, notes that the only vote to which the Senate came on the day in question was on an amendment offered by Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire to increase the proposed duties on granite and other monumental and building stone.

The Democratic tariff makers have cut this duty one-half on polished stone, while on the rough stone the Democrats proposed a duty of only three cents per cubic foot. Senator Gallinger's amendment did not ask for the retention of the present duty because probably he realized that such amendment would be impracticable, but he asked only that the duties be reduced 20 per cent, and that amendment was lost by a strict party vote except that one western senator, elected as a Republican, joined the Democrats in support of lower duties.

In the State of Maine in 1909, according to the latest official census, the value of the granite product was $1,761,801. There was paid to the wage earners, which under census classification does not include salaried officers of corporations, superintendents, managers, clerks, or any other salaried employees, $1,167,136, a sum almost equal to the value of the product itself. The latest available statistics, those given in the report of the labor commissioner of Maine for 1902, show that the rate of wages at that time among the workers in the granite industry, was as follows: Granite cutters $2.80 to $3.20; quarrymen, $1.75 to $2; blacksmiths, $2.80; common laborers, $1.50 to $1.75; other laborers $1.75 to $2.50; paving cutters generally make from $2.25 to $2.50 per day.

The ability to pay these wages arises from the fact that the Government had placed discriminating duties upon the product brought to these shores from other lands where men work for very much less money than they could receive in this same granite industry here. The first and inevitable result of the cut in the tariff duties on granite must be a reduction for the man who works for daily pay, if the industries are to proceed at all.

Now the practical application of these facts comes home with especial force to the voters in the Third Maine District who are to choose a member of Congress on the 8th day of next September. Whether men are engaged in the granite industry directly or only indirectly profit by it because of the sums of money which are paid to the laborers, and are for the support of their families, in many parts of the Third District the question of wages of the granite cutters is a vital one. Hallowell's greatest source of revenue is the granite quarries there. The same is true of Frankfort. Important quarries are being operated at Addison, Red Beach, Bluehill, North Sullivan, Swanville, South Brooksville, Mt. Desert, Machias, Stonington, Jonesboro, Dedham, Deer Isle, Eden, Penobscot, Cooper, Meddybemps and Jonesport. All the voters of these towns prosper as the granite industry prospers and they will suffer as the granite industry suffers. Dr. Gallinger and Senator Dillingham of Vermont, both of whom tried hard to do all that was in their power to keep the granite industry from coming to the granite producing States and know the importance to the people as a whole that the industry be not crippled by this cut in the tariff rates.

John A. Peters of Ellsworth and William R. Pattangall of Waterville are running for Congress with this tariff bill as an issue. If Mr. Peters were a member of Congress now, he would vote to retain the tariff on granite, or if that were possible, to keep the tariff rates as near the present rate as possible. And, if he is elected to Congress he can be depended upon to do all that is in his power to do to rehabilitate the granite industry after it is affected by the Democratic policy.

If Mr. Pattangall had been a member of Congress now, he would have voted against any amendment calculated to help the granite industry, and if he should be elected to Congress, he can be depended upon to vote for retaining in the law the Democratic policy.

If Mr. Peters is elected to Congress on September 8th, the country will know that the Third Maine District protests against the tariff revision and the crippling of the granite industry; if Mr. Pattangall is elected to Congress, the country will know that the Third Maine District has declared itself to be in favor of the reduction of 50 per cent on polished stone, and of a reduction of the duty on rough stone to three cents per cubic foot. This concrete fact ought to be borne in upon the minds of the people who are directly interested in what we have called the dry report of Congressional proceedings.

Albert Bigelow Paine spends the summer days fishing and motoring at his home in Redding, Connecticut. He recently took a trip to Bedford, Massachusetts, to visit the home of his ancestors. Mr. Paine himself, like the famous subject of his book, "Mark Twain: Biography," was born in the Middle West.

Margaret Deland, author of "The Iron Woman," will shortly return from her transcontinental trip to her home at Kennebunkport, Maine, and to her garden, which occupies so large a part of her summer days. She is at present in British Columbia, where her husband, Lorin F. Deland, author of "Imagination in Business," is recovering from a severe operation.

General Nelson A. Miles' summer has brought him an unusual experience—that of being kept virtually a prisoner in the besieged city of Sofia. General Miles' interest in military operations—which he acknowledges in his book of reminiscences, "Serving the Republic," began as a child when he listened to the exploits of his ancestors in the Indian and Revolutionary Wars—look him abroad some five weeks ago to witness the fighting in the Balkans.

HEALTH RESTORED After Years of Illness

The Public Utilities Act

Held Up by the Referendum It Will Not Be Voted on Until the General Election of 1914.

In an interview at the State house recently in regard to submitting the so-called public utilities act to the vote of the people Governor Haines said:

This act should be thoroughly understood by all the people. It is not a party question or a question of politics. It is a great economic and industrial question for our people. The decision of the people will determine whether we should go on in Maine permitting the issuing of large amounts of watered stock by companies upon which the people have to pay dividends in the future, or whether the public service companies shall be obliged to issue only such stocks and bonds as fairly value the property they represent. It also will determine whether the people shall have an easy and competent court before which they can appear, and at practically no expense, to ascertain whether they are paying a fair price for water, gas, electricity and transportation over our railroads. It will also determine whether we shall have to make in the future, as we have in the past, large contributions by way of commissions and bonus stock given to the great bonding houses in the cities to investigate and certify to investors the honesty and value of the securities issued by our public service companies, or whether it shall be done by our own State commission created by this law.

I am satisfied that many who have signed these petitions have been grossly deceived by misrepresentations, upon the theory that the law is intended to foster monopoly and to be at great expense; whereas, in fact, the law, as anyone can see if they will read it and not read what some newspapers say about it, or what the soliciting agents tell them about it, is to prevent monopoly and at reasonable expense and to give us a square deal in the future with our public service companies.

I regard it as the greatest question we have had before the Legislature, or before the people, during the time I have been connected with public service work, for at least a quarter of a century, and I believe we will be much better prepared to decide by intelligent and honest information from such discussion as it will get and such understanding and information as the people will gain about it during the regular campaign, and that the vote on it which will be given at a general election will be much larger and can give a better expression upon this important question than at a special election which might be called within the terms of the constitution within six months.

Those who object to the law can certainly find no fault with the vote on it being deferred thirteen months instead of six months, for all the time it is suspended it is not a law.

Our people have declared for the principles of the referendum, but it is a new and untried method of legislating in this State, and its usefulness and value in our system of government will largely depend upon the intelligent use the people make of it. The legislators have worked out this measure as they thought best for the interest of the people they represent. To refer it to the popular vote means the sustaining or disapproval of their act in this particular; in other words, the people, by this method, legislate for themselves. They should have ample opportunity to examine this question and thoroughly understand it as did the representatives who passed the law. We should then all be perfectly satisfied, whatever the result may be, to abide by the result of their decision, as it will be a fulfillment of the fundamental principles of our constitution that the people rule.

Suffered Eczema Fifty Years—Now Well

Seems a long time to endure the awful burning, itching, smarting, skin-disease known as "eczema," another name for Eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that DR. HOBSON'S ECZEMA OINTMENT has proven a perfect cure.

Mrs. D. L. Kenney writes: "I cannot sufficiently express my thanks to you for Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. It has cured my terrible, which has troubled me for over fifty years." All druggists, or by mail 50c.

WHEREABOUTS OF AUTHORS.

Holman Day, having bought a new boat, "Davy Jones II," to take the place of its predecessor burned last winter, is cruising in it up and down the twelve hundred miles of the Maine coast. It was just a year ago that "The Red Lane," Mr. Day's latest novel, made its appearance.

Irving Bacheller, who hit his latest genial blow at humanity's faults with his novel "The Battle of Gettysburg," is keeping his hand in trim cutting down trees at Robinsonville, his thousand-acre Adirondack camp. Milder amusements in which he indulges are walking and trout-fishing.

Rex Beach's summer is being spent at his home, high up on the slopes of Lake Hopatcong. A daily dive from his own dock, excursions in motor-boats, motoring, trout-fishing, and frequent house parties keep him pleasantly busy now that he has finished work on his new Alaskan story, to be published this fall.

Jesse Bowman Young, whose book, "The Battle of Gettysburg," was published in time for the centennial of the great fight in which his author was engaged, is spending his summer at his home in Chicago. Dr. Young has given up active ministerial work, and will probably now devote his time to writing.

Albert Bigelow Paine spends the summer days fishing and motoring at his home in Redding, Connecticut. He recently took a trip to Bedford, Massachusetts, to visit the home of his ancestors. Mr. Paine himself, like the famous subject of his book, "Mark Twain: Biography," was born in the Middle West.

Margaret Deland, author of "The Iron Woman," will shortly return from her transcontinental trip to her home at Kennebunkport, Maine, and to her garden, which occupies so large a part of her summer days. She is at present in British Columbia, where her husband, Lorin F. Deland, author of "Imagination in Business," is recovering from a severe operation.

General Nelson A. Miles' summer has brought him an unusual experience—that of being kept virtually a prisoner in the besieged city of Sofia. General Miles' interest in military operations—which he acknowledges in his book of reminiscences, "Serving the Republic," began as a child when he listened to the exploits of his ancestors in the Indian and Revolutionary Wars—look him abroad some five weeks ago to witness the fighting in the Balkans.

WOMAN GAME WARDEN.

Pluck and Energy Win Admiration For Miss Gibboney of Alabama. When Miss Norma Frederic Gibboney of Mobile, Ala., was appointed game warden by Governor O'Neal to do the work hitherto performed exclusively by men, her friends at first held up their hands in horror. But now they cheer her on. She has proved that she is capable.

Here is pretty Miss Gibboney's own story: "I am a nature lover. I have traveled in Europe, Cuba, Mexico and the northwest. My greatest pleasure during the eight months I was in the northwest was hunting for grouse and pheasants. I found the imported birds out there were numerous and am trying to get Alabama, this country anyway, stocked with grouse, Hungarian quail and pheasants. My love of the birds caused me to become interested in their protection; hence my appointment as game warden. I have already stopped lawless negroes from wandering about the surrounding woods shooting everything that has wings. Am I unsexually? Oh, I don't think so! I'm really very feminine and conventional except when I'm out in the woods hunting."

Why Republicans Oppose the Tariff Bill.

At a recent session of the United States Senate the Republicans and Democrats fenced over prosperity and the business outlook, discussed the woolen schedule of the tariff bill at length and made some progress on the metal schedule. When Senator Stone of Missouri read into the record quotations from manufacturers and merchants stating that the industrial outlook was very favorable despite the proposed tariff reductions, Senator Gallinger expressed assurance that present prosperity was due to Republican policies, not to coming Democratic laws, and also that history would repeat itself and depressing times come. Senator Williams, addressing the Republicans, asked why, if they were so certain of the result, they did not cease murmuring and let the bill go to the country for a test.

"We shall continue to demur," replied Senator Gallinger, "until we have made a record that perhaps may aid the people in understanding the situation when the effect of this bill is felt."

Miss Marion Field of Somerville, Mass., arrived by Sunday's Boston steamer to visit her uncle, Mr. Clifford N. Fletcher, and family, West Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Ware of Providence, R. I., were guests of Miss Inez Hanson, Sandpoint road, recently for several days. They left early last week.

Mr. Moses Burpee of Houlton, engineer-in-chief of the B. & A. R. R., was a guest at the Libby boarding house, Sylvan street, Aug. 5th, leaving next day for home.

Capt. and Mrs. Oscar Ellis of Brewer, with friends, are spending several weeks at Cape Jellison, occupying the home of his father, the late Mr. Sawyer Ellis. Welcome home!

Rev. A. A. Blair announced in the pulpit last Sunday that he was to take a vacation until the first of September and consequently there would be no service in the Universalist Church until that date.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Field, accompanied by their son, Mr. Merrill H. Field of Somerville, Mass., left Friday for home after a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Field's brother, Mr. Clifford N. Fletcher, and family, West Main street.

Mrs. Clara B. Shute left last Thursday to join her husband, Capt. Elden Shute, upon the arrival of his vessel in Portland. Her daughter, little Miss Louise, is boarding during her absence with Mrs. L. S. Tuttle, Sylvan street.

Mr. Ernest West of Milo, chauffeur for President Todd of the Bangor and Aroostook R. R., was in town Aug. 5th, calling upon his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. West, Gilmore street, and taking them out for their first automobile ride.

Mrs. Lettie (Wardwell) Benner and little daughter Leora, of Rockland, guests of Miss Nellie Hichborn for a week, left Friday for home. Mrs. Benner was the younger of the two daughters of Master David Wardwell, who lived here in their childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Snell of Malden, Mass., arrived from the White Mountains last Saturday to visit his mother, Mrs. Sarah Snell, West Main street. Mr. Snell is the principal of the Grammar schools of the city of Malden—a position he has filled for several years. Welcome to familiar scenes!

Monday afternoon, Mr. Edward M. Lawrence, the Progressive candidate for Congress in the 3rd District to succeed the late Mr. Goodwin was in town to talk an hour or two with the ardent and earnest members of that party, Capt. Ralph Morse, Mr. H. L. Hopkins and Mr. L. Albert Gardner among them.

Mrs. Henry S. Overlock and Miss Emily S. Overlock, with their friends the Misses Nealey and Gardner, left Friday's steamer for Boston en route to their Somerville, Mass., homes. They had been a fortnight in town—a brief time in which to see the many friends Mrs. and Miss Overlock have in Stockton.

Mr. Andrew D. Black left town Aug. 6th to visit his sister, Mrs. Colcord, in Swantonville before his return journey to Nevada, where he has established a permanent home with two nieces, having never married. His many friends hope that circumstances and inclination may again bring him to his native State.

Mr. Ralph Hall of Wellesley Hills, Mass., arrived Saturday to join his wife, who had been the guest for a few days of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Staples, Church street. Mr. and Mrs. Hall took Sunday's Boston steamer en route for their home. Many friends regretted the brevity of their stay in Stockton.

From Cape Jellison piers, the following shipping report was telephoned Monday evening: A tugboat, tug Potomac sailed, light, for Sarguntville, August 6th, sch. Mary Augusta sailed with lumber for New York. August 11th, steamer Millinocket arrived with a general cargo from New York to load paper for New York.

Mr. Edward I. Littlefield, Church street, met with quite an accident last Thursday while employed in the paper house at Cape Jellison piers. In some unaccountable manner a large roll of the paper struck him, throwing him into a bin and injuring his back. He is still confined to the house. We trust his gain may be steady and as rapid as possible.

Mrs. Harry Pebody of Lexington, Mass., was the guest of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Jane Staples, Church street, last week with her four young children. She left for Bangor to call on maternal relatives before going to Northport for a fortnight. This lady is the only child of the late Mr. Herbert Staples, well remembered in his native village.

Mr. Lester M. Bragg left Aug. 6th for Boston. He gained 20 pounds in the few weeks spent with his mother, Mrs. Jennie M. Bragg, since his arrival from Florida. He is now in Philadelphia for a week, after which time he will return to Jacksonville, Florida, to the business in which he is again located in "the sunny South."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gerrity of Bangor, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Helen, arrived Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Alvah C. Treat, Church street. Their son, Mr. Joseph Gerrity of Boston, joined them here by appointment, coming by steamer Saturday morning, and leaving Sunday p.m. Mr. Gerrity, senior, took the early train Monday for home. Mrs. Gerrity and Miss Helen remaining with the Treats until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Colcord of New York dined with their cousins, the Misses Lizzie B., Evelyn L. and Ethel Colcord, East Main street last Sunday. They came by Sunday's Boston steamer and left on the boat's return trip in the afternoon. Mr. Colcord is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Colcord of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Colcord the only daughter, of Mr. Fred D. Colcord of New York, with whom this young couple make their home.

There have been many guests in town the present season. Mr. and Mrs. Simeon F. Ellis at their residence on the crest of the hill, Church street, in one week recently entertained callers from Newark, N. J., Lexington, Kentucky, Nevada, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and the western portion of Maine. All these visitors agreed in their exclamations of enthusiastic admiration of the far-reaching view of Penobscot river and bay seen from the piazza of the Ellis house—formerly the Capt. Thomas Clifford place.

Dr. Everett Hichborn of Cambridge, Mass., met with a painful accident August 6th, which narrowly escaped being very serious in its consequences. He and his wife are spending the vacation month of August with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Herman G. Hichborn, and with them and friends were standing upon the wharf Dr. Hichborn, senior, is having built near the bungalow he is erect on the shore of Fort Point Cove, when, stepping upon an unnailed plank, he was thrown ten feet to the beach below, striking upon a jagged rock, the blow injuring the ribs and it was feared the kidney. His father's automobile being at hand he was taken immediately to the village and Dr. G. A. Stevens hurriedly called to attend to the patient, who is now steadily improving. All friends hope no internal complication may develop, but recovery be rapid and complete.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE. The annual "Sale" of the combined fancy-work, aprons and useful articles made by the willing workers of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the Universalist parish was held most successfully last Thursday evening in Hichborn hall. The committee on decorations, Mrs. L. A. Gardner, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Faustina D. Berry and Mr. Gardner, transformed the hall into an attractive room. The color scheme was red and green, and good taste and efficient labor were shown in festooning the crepe paper most pleasingly about the walls and from the ceiling. The fancy-work table was in charge of Mrs. Elmer E. Thompson, assisted by Miss Mary Hichborn, Mrs. Frank A. Patterson, Mrs. Simeon F. Ellis and Mrs. Hosea Renouf. Mrs. James N. Treat and Mrs. Sarah Snell had the management of the apron table. Mrs. Annie K. Harriman attended to the candy table. Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. Alice T. Doe served the ice-cream patrons. Mrs. J. A. Flanders had the exquisitely dainty "tea-garden." It was a real Japanese gem, the overhead trellis covered with wisteria vines, from which hung the beautiful purple clusters of the wisteria blossoms, while the side enclosures were lavishly ornamented with pink cherry blossoms. Mrs. Flanders was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Britto and Miss Ethel Colcord, in Japanese dress, who poured, dispensed the fragrant Japanese beverage in tiny foreign cups, at ten cents per cup, the patron taking his or her cup and saucer as a souvenir of the charming "tea-garden." The evening program consisted of selections by the Stockton band, trios, by the Misses Lucretia Flanders, Beulah Cousins and Josephine Davis, and readings by Miss Mary Calkin; and all were highly appreciated by those listening. The entire affair was satisfactory, albeit the pecuniary feature was not as large as the busy workers hoped to realize; yet a goodly sum was placed in the hands of the treasurer, Mrs. Annie K. Harriman. The Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. Ralph Morse, President, and Mrs. Hattie (Clifford) Hichborn, vice president, with the Auxiliary society, Mrs. Elmer E. Thompson, manager, and each committee, member and well-wisher, have reasons to be thankful over the results obtained! Thanks are extended to those outside the Universalist society, who so kindly assisted in various ways in the rendering of music and in other features. The concert given by the home band was excellent and much enjoyed!
